

01/15/12 - Mamoul Cookies

A previous trip to Israel about 6 years ago led us to walk the switchback streets of Haifa from Mt. Carmel on the top, through the many ethnic neighborhoods, Russian, Jewish religious, Palestinian, past the Baha'i Gardens, through an Arab section full of baklava stores, and on down to reach the German Colony near the bottom of the hill before the harbor area.

On our walk I recall stopping for an espresso and an intriguing looking cookie at a coffee shop. [\[click to continue...\]](#)

