

04/09/19 - Passover 2019 Menu and Recipe Links

Passover 2019 Menu

I realize that I have not posted in a very long time. I apologize to my readers for that, but life has been mostly very good and very busy and that is a good thing. No complaints from me. My family is growing and I have chosen to pursue many other interests although I still cook and bake a lot for enjoyment and to delight and please my family. I hope to one day soon publish my second book with recipes for everyday life and holidays. In the meantime I have my Passover menu ready and I thought I would share links to many of my recipes that I have already started prepping. [\[click to continue...\]](#)

