To all of my readers of the Boreka Diary Blog; It has come to my attention that since early summer this year 2011 Google and WordPress have messed up some how and many of you are not receiving email notifications of new posts and I have been mistakenly blocked on some search engines. Please take a moment to subscribe for email notice of new posts once again and rest assured that I am fixing the problem shortly. I have posted many new recipes this summer. Thanks for your support Linda
