

04/07/10 - Travels on the Horizon

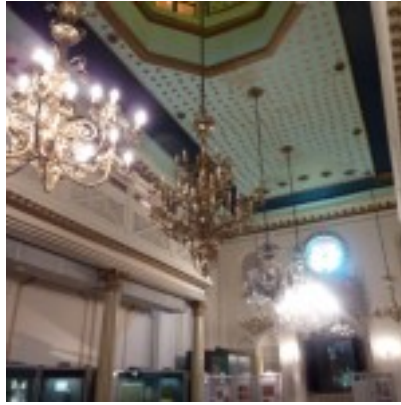

Oh my gosh, its Wednesday late afternoon all ready. This morning I went to the Santa Monica Farm Market at 8:30 AM and took some incredible pictures . This week is so crazy for me, I am restocking all of Chametz (bread, pasta, rice, peanut Best of all I am getting ready for the big mystery trip. On this coming Monday I depart with my sister for a little personal Sephardic heritage trip. As you can see in this picture from last May I went with my husband to Venice, Rome, and a little Adriatic Sea cruise. Poor Michael is to busy this year, so my sister Barbara and I are going touring ourselves. Barbie's hubby is a workaholic as well and can't leave his patients.

Stay tuned for blogging and pictures of our fantastic 2 week adventure. We will start our exploration after our arrival next Tuesday night in_____.....
